Improving Moodle usability at Nord Anglia Education

“ We were referred to Titus Learning by our Hong Kong IT team. We felt that they had a good understanding of what Moodle could do and also how it was actually used day to day by both end users and the people maintaining the site. Overall things have gone extremely well and we already have plans in place to work on further projects and functionality for the website. ”

Welcome to Titus Learning

Mike Bennett

Four years ago we found ourselves standing here (or just across the City at the Park Plaza Victoria) attending the 32nd Annual COBIS Conference. However we weren't attending as the co-founders of Titus Learning, we were representing another company, and spotted a serious gap in the provision of easy to use eLearning and CPD tools with a specific focus on the international school market. It was at that point the idea for Titus Learning was born.

Four years on and we're over the moon with the progress that's been made, and the amazing schools and organisations we've been able to work with. From day one we've prided ourselves on offering world class support, alongside a platform customised for each organisation. Now working in 12 countries spanning Europe, Africa, the Middle East, and East Asia, we're unbelievably pleased with the educational institutions using our software to improve teaching and learning. These range from prestigious international schools such as Wellington College China, Dulwich College International, and Nord Anglia Education, as well as some excellent UK independent schools including St Albans and Stockport Grammar School.

Having been a Supporting Member of COBIS from day one, we were delighted to welcome COBIS themselves as a customer last year. We were selected to provide their new Digital Workbook to support the Patron's Accreditation & Compliance, and the LMS to deliver CPD courses such as the CPML. I hope a lot of you will have had the chance to see or even use the platform and it would be great to hear your thoughts and feedback.

Over the past year we've had a real focus on making our technology even easier to use, resulting in more time for teachers to do what they do best: teach. Alongside continuing usability improvements, we want to ensure that our systems can even better track student progress, personalise their learning experience, and recommend learning content for further support or to push them closer towards mastery.

We've got a whole host of ideas for the future and feel like we're only just getting going. It'd be great for you to join us on this journey. If you have any questions about the work we're doing, or how we may be able to help at your school please come and chat with us on stand 67 at the conference, or grab us walking around.

Hope to chat with you soon!

COBIS - The Digital Workbook & LMS

As a Supporting Member we were delighted to have the opportunity to work directly with COBIS recently on a new project to develop two key online services:

- ✔ A learning management system to deliver COBIS Learning Programmes including CPML and CPSL
- ✔ A compliance and accreditation platform for member schools - the "Digital Workbook"

Working closely with the COBIS team, led by Peter Simpson and Sakina Zafar, we designed a custom Moodle solution which would incorporate and integrate the two key elements, alongside an implementation plan to ensure the COBIS team would be guided at each stage of the process, and properly supported post-launch.

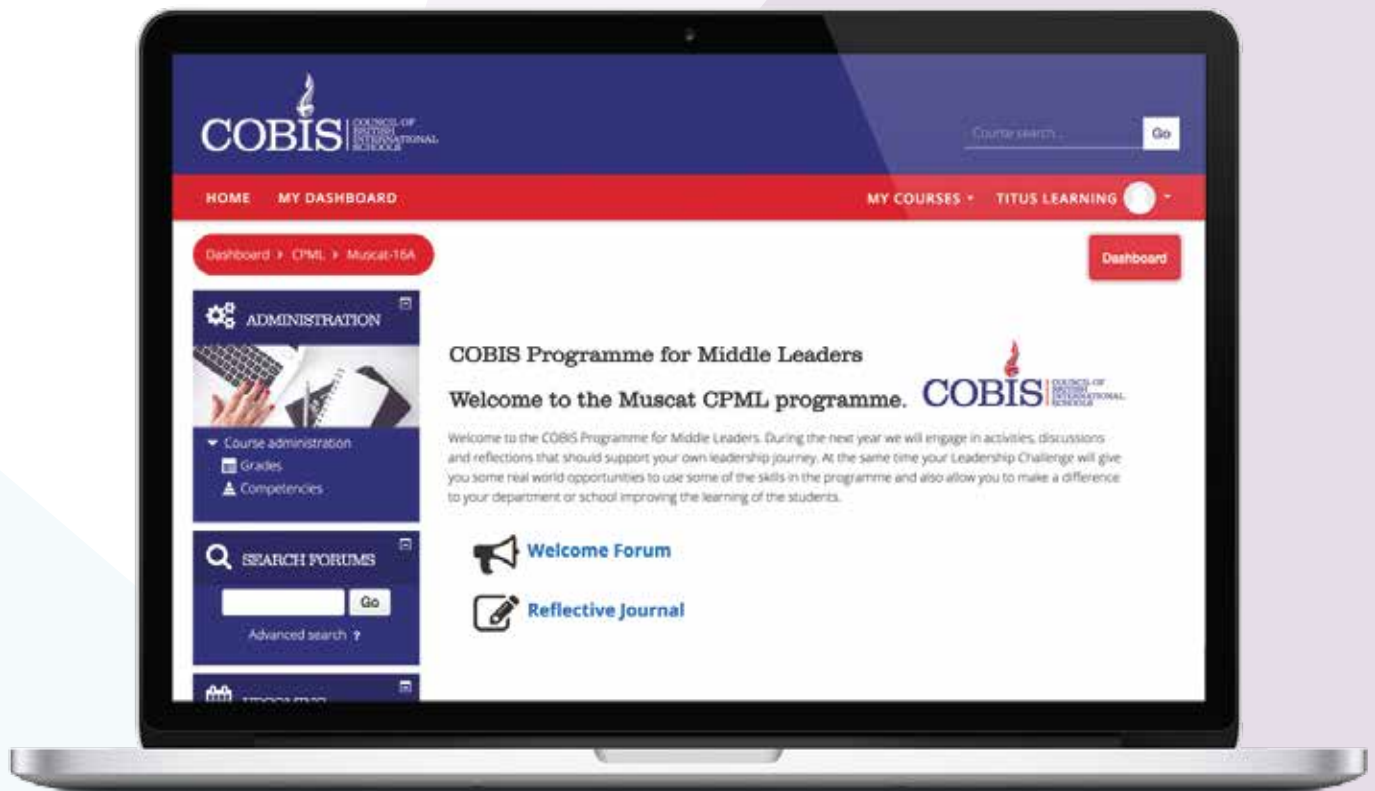

Key considerations in ensuring the new platform was a success included:

- ✔ Single Moodle system integrating both services
- ✔ Compatible with mobile, tablet and desktop devices
- ✔ Elastic hosting for scalability and performance
- ✔ Bespoke theme design to maximise usability

The new platform was designed from a user-centric perspective, with a clean and clear interface. We developed a fully responsive theme to guarantee usability across a range of devices, and followed COBIS brand guidelines to ensure a consistent appearance with the organisation's existing web properties.

With the project now in the initial rollout stage, we look forward to feedback from COBIS members.

“ The package offered by Titus most definitely matched our main requirement – a cost-effective and easy-to-use LMS that harnesses digital technology to support school improvement. It helped that Titus were already COBIS Supporting Members and that we had worked with them in the past. This meant that we were aware of their staff's committed work ethic and ability to adapt to suit our needs for this unique project. In the end, the decision to offer them the contract was quite straightforward. ”

EduLink One at Jerudong International School

At JIS, we implemented EduLink One, an new application allowing the school to:

Engage students with an easy to use interface giving quick access to timetables, homework assignments, resources and exam calendars.

Involve parents by giving access their child's grades, attendance and behavioural data, as well as instant messaging to keep them up to date with the latest news.

Empower teachers to work flexibly, enabling on-the-go access to real time MIS data and allowing marking, assessment and registration to be completed from a mobile device.

Support administrators with instant messages delivered directly to the user's smartphone, and integration with cashless payment systems.

“ The EduLink app has been a revelation to our staff. Teachers love being able to complete the register on a mobile device and adore being able to edit/create reports at home with a really effective write back function. All very easy and time efficient. ”
